

To: membres titulaires and members of all Committees

I attach below a letter from the Editor of the UK Actuarial Profession's publication Annals of Actuarial Science inviting contributions to this journal. Please bring this to the attention of the members of your association.

"I am writing to invite members of the Group Consultatif to consider contributing to Annals of Actuarial Science. Published by the UK Actuarial Profession, the AAS is at the forefront of actuarial science and combines theory and practical application so as to make it invaluable to academics and practising actuaries alike.

AAS has a diverse and international readership and as a fully refereed journal with a prestigious international editorial team, it attracts the highest quality original research. As the new editor of the publication, I wish to see its scope and impact continue to develop and welcome contributions and enquiries from the global actuarial community.

Contributions on all aspects of actuarial science are welcome and authors are supported at every stage of the publication process by the journal's editorial office in Oxford. Original research, review papers and case studies are all eligible for publication.

If you would like a free copy of volume 3 of AAS and free online access for 6 months, please contact maria.lyons@actuaries.org.uk. Please send any submissions directly to me at A.S.Macdonald@ma.hw.ac.uk

You may also wish to link from your web site to the journals page on the UK Actuarial Profession's website at:
http://www.actuaries.org.uk/knowledge/annals\_baj